Dear Parents/Carers,

Welcome back to our second half term of the year.

We have welcomed Miss. Freeman and Mrs. Hamilton on supply for the next few weeks whilst we hold interviews for a teaching assistant. The post is advertised in the Hexham Courant if you know anyone who might be interested.

The children in Wagtail Class have already begun discussions on how Father Christmas hides his home in the North Pole!

As the days grow shorter we are very much looking forward to this term of celebration.

I hope you're all looking up bear recipes for our Children in need Bake Off on the 16th. ( not real bear meat please!)

Please help raise money for this very worthy cause by helping your children dress in as much yellow as possible for the day on the 16th ( yes, teddy bear costumes are allowed, as are bananas if they wish!) and bringing in what change you can spare for our cover Pudsey activity.

I hope to see some of you at the memorial service on Sunday.

I wish you a splendid weekend together.

Best Wishes, Katherine Ayre

Poppies -

I know there has been some unrest on local social media about white poppies so I wanted to explain why our school wreath will be made of white poppies.

During collective worship we have been looking at the cost of war to not only those sent to valiantly defend our country , but also to those caught in all crossfire and destruction war brings.

The children at Whitfield are seekers of peace. It is at the heart of our school community. One of the families had brought up white poppies and this led to an investigation of the origin and meaning of both red and white poppies. White poppies have been worn since 1933.

The children in our school family are empathetic beings and were touched by the sentiment of remembering not only the fallen but also those affected by wars both past and present.

We took a vote, as we often do, and the huge majority of children voted white for our poppy wreath, which they have been blessed to create with a talented local ceramic artist. If you want to read more about the white poppy please do so here:

<https://ppu.org.uk/remembrance-white-poppies>

Please be assured we have also talked a lot about the bravery and sacrifice of all the servicemen that fought in WW1 and that their sacrifice should always be remembered . In the corridor at school there is a display to commemorate the fallen, do take a look if you're in school. The letters from the trenches written by years 5 & 6 do bring a lump to the throat.

Lest we forget. We will remember them.

We Will Remember Them

Service of Remembrance beginning at the memorial in Whitfield just before 4pm followed by a short service in the church. Refreshments will be served.

Do come and join us if you can .
